02.16.2022 / COVID-19 Updates, News

February 16 COVID-19 Update

Dear People of God in the Diocese of Chicago,

With the announcement by Governor Pritzker on February 9 that Illinois's indoor mask mandate will be lifted at the end of the month, we believe it is again time to release you from restrictions imposed by diocesan guidelines, and ask that you and your leadership work together to discern prayerfully and thoughtfully the guidelines you will put in place for your own community to be effective no earlier than February 28, 2022.

Please note that the Governor's lifting of the indoor mask mandate does not apply in all settings. The restrictions imposed by localities, businesses, and some federally funded services (e.g., public transportation, Medicare/Medicaid funded institutions) supersede the State's decision. As a congregation, you can still require that masks be worn while indoors. Equally important is to know that as of the date of this letter, Illinois does not yet meet the CDC criteria for low or moderate community transmission. Additionally, vaccines for children under age five are still not available. As you and your leaders discern next steps for your congregation, it is critical to consider carefully and thoughtfully the myriad of needs, concerns, and perspectives that will be present in your context.

There are a number of areas about which we do want to be more specific:

Even if you decide that your congregation will continue wearing masks indoors, preachers, readers, and leaders of prayers may remove their masks while engaging in these parts of the liturgy.

Social gatherings (e.g., coffee hour) that include the removal of masks for eating and drinking may resume.

While we ask that you continue to refrain from using the common cup, you may return to using a common loaf of bread for communion as long as wafers are available for those who desire that option. If your practice is to offer communion wine, individual cups of wine poured from a large cruet or flagon should still be the practice.

It is important to remember that even though the State's indoor mask mandate will be lifted, we know that there are many people in our communities who cannot or may not be vaccinated, especially children and immunocompromised people. As you make your plans, please make intentional provision for safely welcoming those who are not vaccinated.

Courtney Reid will continue to hold weekly office hours on Wednesdays from 12:30-1:00 PM throughout March via Zoom to answer questions and provide support. The Zoom link is published in e-news.

Throughout the pandemic, we have been guided by a thoughtful and talented group of leaders. We are so very grateful for their guidance and input. And lastly, we are grateful for your continued leadership through this challenging time. May we continue to move forward with God's grace.
